

SLAIN MAN'S RELATIVES
WANT TAYLOR REINDICTED.

But Court Rules for Man Who After Fleeing Justice, Became
Model Citizen in West.

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 17.—Efforts were made today to revive the indictment against John Taylor for manslaughter. Taylor is living in some Western city under an assumed name. During an election riot at Port Bowen, in 1888, he is charged with having killed Thomas Murray. He escaped to the West.

His law shoe led a blameless life and, under his assumed name, has married, reared a family of children and become the head of a large manufacturing establishment. To protect his family, he sought to have the indictment of twenty-six years standing dismissed. Judge Howard, of the Supreme Court, did so last week.

Today's efforts were made by relatives of Murray, who insist that Murray's name can be cleared only by the trial of Taylor, and asked that he at least be compelled to come into court. Judge Howard said he had grave doubts whether an indictment, once having been dismissed in open court, as was Taylor's, could be brought to life in this manner. He denied the motion.

Distinctiveness in

Spring Apparel for Men

—with no extra cost for that important feature

If we should deem it necessary to add an extra charge for the character that is tailored into clothes of our creating, still would there be justification for the claim of full-cost value. But the charge is never made.

Because of the advantages we derive from the possession of our own staff of highly trained designers and tailors, we can produce garments of distinction most unusual—yet priced as moderately as the ordinary sort

Ready-for-service

Suits and Overcoats
$15 to $43Suits for Boys & Young Men
$10 to $23 AGES 14 TO 20 YEARS

We do not intend to dwell especially upon the tailoring and finish—we assume that you know that in both these details the Suits are up to our accustomed standard—otherwise they would not be here.

But we do lay particular emphasis upon the quality at the price—in which respect these Suits are rather more than exceptional.

The fabrics present the newest designs and colorings—all of them characteristic of our ability to keep well out of the beaten track. The models are the work of our own designers.
